Date: 20 January 2019

Number of Students: 40

On January 20th, 2019, an Addiction Relief and Female Feticide Awareness Program using folk songs was organized at the college, featuring renowned folk singer Mangala Wankhade. The primary objectives of this unique initiative were to address the pressing issues of addiction relief and female feticide through the culturally rich medium of folk music.

With the participation of 40 students, the college aimed to leverage the power of folk songs to communicate important messages about the harmful effects of addiction and the social consequences of female feticide. Mangala Wankhade's emotive singing added a cultural touch to the awareness program, making it more accessible and relatable to the audience.

The dual focus on addiction relief and female feticide aimed to address two critical social challenges, promoting empathy and understanding among the student community.

Through this innovative approach, the college sought to not only create awareness but also evoke emotional responses, encouraging students to reflect on their roles in addressing these issues. The program aligns with the broader goals of social responsibility and cultural enrichment within the academic community.
